JURY CITATION

→A complex organisation with diverse demands for security and privacy has been handled with care and consideration. The existing multi levelled building with evident constraints and few opportunities, has been thoughtfully re-considered to provide premises for an organisation with fluctuating staff and an often stressful public interface.

→The need for integration through and within the organisation, has been pursued with vigour by the space planning and design, carried out on a demanding budget. While ensuring separate offices, there is a clever arrangement of internal spaces to maximise shared open space, while providing natural light between spaces. This has become the collective focus at the centre of the plan.

→The colour palette is restrained while assisting legibility within the deep plan. There is obvious client satisfaction. ■
